In an effort to improve childhood immunisation rates, the Victorian Government has amended the Public Health and Wellbeing ACT 2008. The amendments, in effect from the 1st of January 2016, means that early childhood education and care services cannot confirm enrolment of a child unless the parent/carer has provided documentation that shows that the child:

- is fully vaccinated for their age, or
- is on a recognised catch up schedule if their child has fallen behind with their immunisation, or
- has a medical reason not to be vaccinated.

"Conscientious objection to vaccination is not an objection"

Medical Emergencies/Consent to Administer Medical Treatment

The only person that can give consent for educators to authorise or administer medical treatment or medication is those with 'lawful authority' meaning the child's parents or guardians if appointed by the courts. I give consent for the educators at Eynesbury Early Education to undertake first aid or seek medical assistance or treatment that my child should require from a medical practitioner, hospital or ambulance service. I also consent for the educators at Eynesbury Early Education to organise transportation of my child by ambulance service if required. I understand that medical treatment and ambulance service will be at my expense. In this even every effort will be made to contact the parents/guardians immediately.

Lawful Authority

Parents – All parents have powers and responsibilities in relation to their children that can only be changed by a court order. The Education and Care Services National Law Act 2010 refer to those powers and responsibilities as 'lawful authority'. It is not affected by the relationship between the parents such as whether or not they have lived together or are married. A court order, such as under the Family Law Act, may take away the authority of a parent to do something, or may give it to another person.
